

The Missing Member

There's those who do
And some that don't
There's those who will
And some that won't

There's those who sit at home and shirk
There's others say they have to work.
There's others say they don't feel well,
And let the Branch just go to hell.

There's some who just moan by letter,
And make the boast they could do better.
There's others say it's far too far
Then polish up their shiny car.

There's those that never come at all,
Just bleat and gripe and do sod all,
There's other say they've things to do,
And have not time to join us few.

Support your branch and have your say,
Then have a pint, and Bert will pay!
So read these words carefully,
And then try to remember.....

Am I the person in the rhyme?
Am I the missing member?
